“May your marriage be a path of growth, compassion, and awakening.”

start your new life in peace

May your married life be a path not only of companionship, but of growth in strength, truth, and love.

Stand by each other in courage and purity. See the divine in one another, and let your home be a place of peace, service, and higher ideals.

Remember always: strength is life, and love is its highest expression.

May your union lead you both toward harmony within and realization of the greater purpose of life.
